

Jonathan Way

Jonathan Way is a Councilman for the City of Manassas where he has served for the last five years. He is currently the chair of the Council's Land Use and Economic Development Committee. He also currently serves as the city's representative on the boards of the VRE (railroad), PRTC (bus service) and three Washington Regional Council of Governments committees. Prior to his work on Council, he served five years on the city's Planning Commission, including two as chairman. He credits these activities with keeping his retirement active and interesting.

In a previous life before he retired, he worked 37 years for Exxon-Mobil in the areas of strategic planning, construction project management and maritime operations management in the US and several overseas countries.

Mr. Way is a graduate of the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy and also earned an M.S. in Industrial Management from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.
